Prisoner no.: 120

Doctor Barry (also known to the Jacobites as Dr. Moore) was a well known London Jacobite who was concerned in the negotiations before the 1745 Jacobite Rising. He was apparently one of the many Jacobites whose arrest was due to evidence given by Murray of Broughton. All his papers were seized. He was put in Newgate Prison and later in the Tower of London. His name appears among those excepted from the Act of Pardon of June 1747. Being very ill he was sent, in the charge of a Messenger, into the country on 15 August 1747 on bail. His subsequent history is doubtful, but he was released. On list of persons excepted from the General Act of Parliament.
